

Kate H. Wells is a doctoral candidate in the Graduate Program in Social and Political Thought at York University in Toronto, Canada. As a research associate on the Visible City Project and Archive, she has been involved in creating new methodologies for studying the historical enclaves of urban space. Her doctoral dissertation concerns the layered and lost temporalities of the city of Detroit in the U.S.