

Simone Osthoff, Associate Professor of Critical Studies at the School of Visual Arts, Pennsylvania State University, is an art critic, curator and historian focusing upon experimental and controversial media art practices and the historiography issues they raise. Her numerous essays have been published internationally on paper and online and translated into eight languages. Osthoff is the author of Performing the Archive: The Transformation of the Archive in Contemporary Art from Repository of Documents to Art Medium, forthcoming from Atropos Press, 2009.